

Keldon Bester

Keldon Bester is the executive director of the Canadian Anti-Monopoly Project (CAMP), a think tank dedicated to addressing the harms of monopoly and building a more democratic economy, and a fellow at the Centre for International Governance Innovation (CIGI). He is a leading voice in Canada's competition policy conversation, and his writing and thinking have been featured in The Globe and Mail, National Post, Toronto Star, and Corporate Knights.

Keldon has worked as a special adviser at Canada's Competition Bureau, as a fellow at the Open Markets Institute, and as a consultant for organizations across Canada. He holds a master of public policy degree from the Harvard Kennedy School.

KeldonB / monopolyproject

Canadian Anti-Monopoly Project

Dr. G. Kent Fellows

G. Kent Fellows is an Assistant Professor of Economics and the Director of Graduate Programs for the School of Public Policy at the University of Calgary. Kent specializes in competition policy and energy and infrastructure economics. Through his academic and policy publications he has provided advice to provincial, federal and international governments, including the government of Alberta, through the Energy Diversification Advisory Committee (2017) and the Economic Corridors Task Force (2021); the European Union as an expert panel member in their global infrastructure benchmarking assessment (2020-2021) and the Senate of Canada for their report on Economic Trade Corridors (2016).

Jen Gerson

Jen Gerson is a freelance journalist and co-founder of The Line, www.readtheline.ca, Canada's last best hope for irreverent commentary. She has testified in House and Senate committees about the Online News Act.

David Moscrop

David Moscrop is a politics writer whose work has appeared in the Washington Post, the Globe and Mail, the Guardian, the Walrus, and several other publications. He's also a podcast host and the author of Too Dumb for Democracy?

david\_moscrop

David Moscrop